

From design to fabrication, Sanitary Stainless Welding Inc. (SSWI) is a premium supplier of stainless steel storage, fermenting and processing tanks, piping, grape receiving hoppers, screw conveyors, and catwalks for the wine industry. We will individually engineer and design each tank using the best and most experienced craftsmanship available to meet your exact requirements. Whether you need wine storage, fermenting, or processing tanks, every aspect of your tank is examined to achieve efficiency, including size, gallonage requirements, permissible heights, diameter, top design, dimple jackets, agitation, and floor design.

Wine Panel Tanks

SSWI's unique specialized panel tank construction allows us to design and prefabricate vertical panels for custom design storage tanks up to 750,000 gallons. These vertical panels are then shipped and assembled on-site with continuous field supervision to provide you with an excellent economical solution for wine storage.

Wine Shop Tanks

SSWI can provide various types of custom shop fabricated wine tanks utilizing our state-of-the-art facilities on the west coast and in the Midwest. These facilities can provide on demand custom designed shop tanks at affordable costs and can provide you with a wide variety of options such as dimpled cooling and heating jackets, custom tank manway access, and a broad selection of various tank fittings.

Tank Modification

When the worst happens, we're prepared with experienced technicians who can repair and modify your tanks right at your facility. They specialize in all types of welding, including stainless steel, mild steel, aluminum, M.I.G., and T.I.G. to make prompt repairs. If major repairs or modifications are needed, our state-of-the-art facilities on the west coast and Midwest are ready for more extensive service.

Components and Parts

Customize your equipment and improve your process with after-market parts and components. We produce components for a number of other original equipment manufacturers in addition to parts for our own tanks and vessels. Our components are engineered and fabricated using the same quality standards found in all our products and delivered with the same commitment to service, support, and customer satisfaction.
